Free-Text Notes:

I am a single parent working full-time, and I need someone reliable to pick up my 5-year-old daughter, Mia, from school and care for her until I finish work. Mia is an energetic child who loves to play outside, do arts and crafts, and read stories. She has a mild peanut allergy, so it's crucial that the nanny is knowledgeable about food allergies and can ensure her safety during snack and meal times.

I would appreciate someone who can create a fun and nurturing environment while also encouraging learning through play. It would be great if the nanny could help Mia with her early reading skills and engage her in educational activities.

I prefer someone who is local to the Eastside area, as it makes school pickup easier. Flexibility is important, as there may be occasional requests for additional hours or coverage on other days, depending on my work schedule. Overall, I am looking for a caring and responsible individual who can be a positive influence in Mia's life. Thank you!
